SINCLAIR AID BALKS AT GIVING TESTIMONY

SHELDON CLARK IS BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

HE IS CHARGED WITH JURY
TAMPERING CON-SPIRACY

HEARING TO BE GIVEN HIM TWO WEEKS FROM TO-DAY

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 10. — Sheldon Clark, Chicago sportsman and lieutenant of Harry Sinclair, today refused to testify before the grand jury concerning alleged tampering with jurors in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial.

Clark was bound over to the grand jury under $10,000 bonds. He is charged with jury tampering conspiracy and a hearing will be given him two weeks from today. Actual issuance of a warrant was unnecessary as Clark was immediately available and appeared voluntarily before U. S. Commissioner Needham Turnage on a complaint similar to that made against Harry F. Sinclair last week.

The warrant sworn against Sinclair is still held in abeyance.

Lee Mosher furnished bond for Clark, who appeared smiling and chatting affably while the proceedings were taken against him.

Turnage fixed the date for Clark's hearing as a fortnight hence despite violent protest by Clark's attorneys.

After further discussion, however, the date for the hearing was set for November 25, after attorneys pointed out that the first date set was Thanksgiving Day.

Clark demanded a hearing at the earliest possible date which was November 24, saying he wanted to get "this burden off my shoulders as soon as possible."

Clark refused to answer about 20 questions put by the grand jury on the ground that answers would tend to incriminate him, according to government attorneys.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Harry Jeffreys, personal employee of Harry F. Sinclair, charged by the government with having employed the Burns agency to conduct espionage of Fall-Sinclair oil trial jurors, reported to Dist. Atty. Gordon today ready to appear before the grand jury investigating alleged jury tampering.

"I have nothing to say except that I will answer every question of the grand jury to the best of my ability," Jeffreys said.

Jeffreys said he was employed directly by Sinclair, but would not tell newspapermen his title or duty. He does not work for any of the Sinclair companies, he said.

W. J. Burns, head of the detective agency which provided detectives to shadow the jury, came today with his son, W. Sherman Burns, bringing records of the employment of the men as asked by United States Atty. Peyton Gordon.

Sherman Burns immediately objected to Gordon's plan to parade the 15 Burns "shadows" before 11 of the 12 shadowed jurors. He suggested that to be fair other persons should be included among the detectives.

"We're running this," Gordon retorted.

Sheldon Clark, alleged contact man, appeared with his attorney, and prepared to go before the grand jury again.

Young Burns was the first witness today.

Burns came out of the grand jury room after an hour and a half. He would not talk.

Jeffreys followed him before the investigating body.

After 15 minutes, Jeffreys was excused until after lunch. Clark was then called.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS ALARMS BOISE, IDAHO; SCHOOL CLOSED

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 10.—(UP)—City authorities today ordered the Boise high school closed to prevent spread of infantile paralysis.

Nine children and one adult have been stricken. One death has resulted since a week ago, when first preventive measures were taken.

All assemblages of children are banned. Police have ordered all public dance halls closed.

Theatres have not been affected by the closing order and all outdoor activities in which adults participate may be held.

Physicians said most of the juvenile cases reported so far are mild.

BIRGER GANGSTER SAWS HIS WAY OUT OF JAIL

Marion, Ill., Nov. 10.—(UP)—County authorities throughout southern Illinois co-operated today in a search for Harvey Dungey, member of the notorious Birger gang, who last night sawed his way to freedom from Williamson county jail here.

Dungey was waiting trial for the "machine-gun murder" of Lyle "Shag" Worsham, who was taken for a gang-land ride, ejected into a deserted road, and sprayed with machine gun bullets "because he talked too much with the Sheltons," rival gangsters.

SHERW'D ANDERSON IS TO BE AN OLD COUNTRY EDITOR

FAMOUS WRITER MAKES PUR-POSE CLEAR IN SMYTH
COUNTY NEWS

BOUGHT IT RECENTLY WHEN HE GREW TIRED OF
CITY LIFE

Marion, Va., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Sherwood Anderson, craftsman of revolutionary literature, promises to settle down as an old-fashioned country editor.

He makes this purpose clear in the Smyth County News, which he recently bought when he grew tired of city life and of writing for sophisticates.

Signing himself "managing editor" in his first issue of the Smyth News this week, Anderson promises to be as "modest and retiring as my own nature will let me."

The author of "Many Marriages" and "Dark Laughter," says he wants to print the opinions of his country readers as well as his own.

He is willing to let the common backyard hen provide an answer to his "triumph of the egg," and observes with his famous reportorial instinct that "the farmers of our community are very busy now shucking corn."

Between an advertisement in which a leading citizen denies having bootlegged, and the report of a Kiwanis dinner at a church which the correspondent promises to join if its food is always so good, Anderson says:

"The Smyth News is filled for the most part with local news—births and deaths, what the churches are doing, the price of farm products, who gets hurt during the fall threshing, or shoots some fellow for getting gay with his wife, school news, sports, visits.

"The aim of this paper is to give expression to the joys and sorrows, the political fights, all of the everyday life of a very typical American community."

"The paper is owned and edited in every way except politically—by Sherwood Anderson, sometimes favorably, often unfavorably, known as a novelist and story teller.

"He does not claim to be a poet."

In a weekly column of his paper, entitled "what say," Anderson writes more after his usual style.

"Several of my own books that have, when published, been condemned as too frank are accepted everywhere now," he says. "There is a great mistake commonly made by older people about the younger generation."

"What has happened is that there is an increased curiosity about life. The younger generation has got onto much of the bunk older people talk. What is the use of trying to make my son or daughter think I have led a pure life if I haven't? Few of us have. I know I haven't."

BIGGEST OF SUBS IS CHRISTENED WITH GRAPE JUICE

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Christened with grape juice, the V-4, biggest of all submarines, was launched at the Portsmouth navy yard today.

Just 30 seconds were required for floating the newest addition to Uncle Sam's undersea fleet. Naval authorities described the launching as "the most perfect ever."

CHICAGO AGAIN IS ON VERGE OF GANG WARFARE

MAY BE AS FIERCE AND BLOODY
AS BATTLE OF BEER
BARONS

NEW FLARE OF ENMITY BLAZES
BETWEEN RIVAL
CLIQUE

Chicago, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Chicago apparently was on the verge of a new gang war which gave prospect of being as fierce and bloody as the battle of the beer barons in years gone by.

Desertion of the "beer racket" by gangsters who saw likelihood of bigger profits from gambling houses, caused the new flare of enmity between rival cliques.

Police made a desperate effort to prevent the war by closing all gambling enterprises, but though most of the establishments locked their doors in response to word from headquarters that "the racket was off," it was believed they would be opened again after a few days.

The cause of the war threat was entirely economic. The beer business has been falling off for months, partially because of excessive competition and partly because retailers learned the secret of mixing a barrel of "real" beer with three barrels of near beer to obtain the product sold to drinkers. That cut down the profits of the beer runners to such a degree that they were threatened with starvation, or at least with having to sell some of their limousines.

As a result, the beer runners started opening gambling houses, and for several weeks new establishments dedicated to faro, black jack, poker, coon card, policy games and in the better residence districts, roulette, have been cropping up constantly.

Competition became keen. Members of the west side gang started invading the south side; the south side went into the north side district; and north side spread back to west and south.

The dividing lines between the gang districts are as sharply drawn as national frontiers, and invasions by rival gangsters are as serious in the gangster code as violation of Jugo-Slavian boundaries by Bulgarian troops is in diplomacy.

The police attempt to close the gambling houses came much as League of Nations interference in international disputes, but the records of the gangs in Chicago leaves little doubt that the police effort will be useless.

Already first signs of warfare have appeared. Eight bombings occurred within 48 hours. One was in a Hammond theater and two were blackhand affairs with no bearing on the gang war. The others damaged gambling houses and beer shops and were regarded as the first flares of the war to come.

More significant than the increase in number of bombings—three or four a week is normal for Chicago—was the fact that TNT and nitroglycerine bombs apparently were being used instead of the relatively harmless black powder bombs heretofore favored.

Black powder bombs usually inflict only mild damage, forcing temporary suspension of business in the bombed establishment. TNT and nitro-glycerine generally wrecks buildings more or less permanently.

The situation between the gangs today was tense but war has not yet been declared.

The declaration, which will be made with machine gun bullets rather than ambassadorial passports, may come almost any day.

San Francisco, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Because of a storm lashing the Pacific coast, Captain Frederick Giles has postponed the start of his flight to Australia until Monday.

4 BANDITS STEAL FORTUNE OF FURS AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Four bandits early today obtained between $50,000 and $75,000 in coats and neck pieces from the Wilde-Van Dyke Fur Co. here.

The bandits parked in front of the store in a touring car. One of them trained a gun on William Doering, watchman.

"Open the store with your key or we'll blow your head off," the bandit commanded.

When the store was opened two other bandits left the car and entered. After gathering up 100 of the most expensive neck pieces and about 50 valuable fur coats the bandits returned to the car and sped away.

No trace of them had been found at noon.

STRICKEN STATE

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Despite snow and cold weather in Vermont, relief and rehabilitation work was going forward rapidly today.

Governor John E. Weeks said he would request President Coolidge to aid the stricken state.

Communication by wire was completely restored and roads to many communities were cleared for trucks carrying food, clothing and medical supplies.

Because firewood was waterlogged suffering was reported in many sections because of lack of fuel.

Financial leaders and state officials were completing conferences regarding rebuilding of destroyed properties in many cities, while Red Cross and army relief workers were aiding in relieving distress and guarding against disease.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—(UP)—With expectations that many more entries would be received, it was announced late yesterday that 12 pilots have expressed intention of participating in the St. Paul to Crookston Armistice Day air derby.

The route of the derby, will take the fliers over Little Falls, famous as the home of Cpl. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Col. L. H. Brittin and Charles "Speed" Holman have announced that elaborate plans have been arranged in Crookston for their aerial circus which will take place from Friday to Sunday.

Prominent pilots of the northwest will be entered in the derby, including Holman who participated in the recent New York to Spokane air races.

Col. Brittin said today that the St. Paul-Little Falls-Crookston event depends upon the weather for success. It is doubtful if the derby will be held in inclement weather, he said.

NATIONAL CONVEN-

Washington, Nov. 10.—(UP)—An effort to unite the three great farm organizations of the country, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the Farmers Union of America, on one program for farm relief will be made by the executive officers of the organizations, it was announced today after a two-day session here.

The executive officers were unable to agree on farm relief and Muscle Shoals legislation, it was explained, because they were tied by politics adopted by the three bodies' national conventions. They did agree, however, on 34 legislative matters at this conference, it was said.

TARIFF CREDIT PLAN OF FARM RELIEF

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Nov. 10.—The word is being passed among members of the congressional farm bloc that President Coolidge is "sympathetically" considering the tariff credit plan of farm relief known as the debenture system.

Mr. Coolidge led a senator to believe at the White House recently that he might encourage the plan, it is said. The inference has spread rapidly.

While it is impossible to get an expression from the president himself at this time, those of his political faith on Capitol Hill are opposed to the project. It would provide that farm products sold for export would receive a "credit" of half the value of the tariff on that product. This credit, backed by the treasury, could be used as a semi-negotiable certificate. It could be sold to importers, obviously at a discount, to be used to pay tariff duties on imported products.

The plan was put forward by the National Grange. The Grange's executive committee is meeting here now with officials of the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Farmers' Union.

The farm bloc itself is not unanimously behind the proposal. The Borah-Norris group has taken no concerted action on it, but Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, presidential candidate of the group, strongly opposes it. He thinks it might be considered a subsidy and an excuse for other government subsidies; also that it might be used as an argument for raising tariff duties again.

Proponents of the project agree it is not in conformity with ideas Mr. Coolidge has expressed on farm relief.

"But we understand he is willing to go a long way to get some kind of a farm bill through next session," they add.

Many members of the bloc privately express belief the president will not champion the project but may seek enactment of some modification of it as an experiment at removing the farm relief issue from the next presidential campaign.

The matter has served to hold up the present all activity upon the McNary-Haugen price stabilization bill, in the belief that a definite expression may be expected from the president shortly.

JOHN M. HAGEN NEW DEPUTY DRY HEAD OF NORTH DAKOTA

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—(UP)—The appointment of John M. Hagen, Dering, N. D., as deputy prohibition administrator for the state of North Dakota was announced today by S. B. Qvale, northwest administrator.

Officers of the North Dakota unit will be at Fargo.

3RD MYSTERIOUS DYNAMITING IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsboro, Pa., Nov. 10.—(UP)—In the third mysterious dynamiting in Pittsboro within the last few weeks, the doorway of the West Pittsboro Borough $1,000,000 high school, first occupied only a month ago, was shattered today.

The building itself was not believed to be badly damaged. A valuable stained glass window in the Methodist Episcopal church across the street was broken.

Three weeks ago an explosion of dynamite damaged the doorway of St. John's Roman Catholic church. About two weeks before, a candy factory was dynamited.

DISARMAMENT IN EUROPE IS A LENGTHY AFFAIR

SYSTEM OF CONFERENCES MAY
LAST FROM 20 TO 50
YEARS

PREPARATORY COMMISSION OF LEAGUE TO MEET ON
NOV. 30

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Geneva, Nov. 10.—European disarmament is going to require a system of progressive conferences lasting from 20 to 50 years, competent League of Nations circles are convinced as they prepare for a meeting of the League's preparatory commission on November 30.

A couple of years ago it was hoped that disarmament could be effected by this time. The work has been under way for many months now. It has demonstrated only, experts here say, the complexity of the problem.

League of Nations observers are looking forward to a long series of disarmament conferences, each one launching a new convention, and each one taking Europe and the world one step nearer to the goal—reduction of armaments almost to nominal scale.

This conclusion has been forced on league men by nearly eight years of studying the problem—eight years in which the failure of repeated efforts to attain immediate disarmament has been obvious.

League experts believe now they are on the right track, and during the next year they hope to attain the first definite success—an agreement by nations to limit their military, naval and aerial strength to its present proportions.

These proportions, statesmen say, are far above those on whose great strength the outbreak of the world war was blamed.

League men are prepared even to see slight increases in the present strength of some nations' armaments agreed to as a beginning.

This sounds hopeless enough—but its importance, observers say, is in the fact that any agreement will end the menace of competitive building and furnish a basis on which later conferences may work.

Therefore all efforts of the League of Nations during 1928 will center on preparing for the first general land, sea and air disarmament conference. They hope it will be held late next year or early in 1929, and that it will result in an agreement to limit armaments to their present, or nearly to their present strength.

If this conference is successful in its aim, league men look forward to a few blank years during which slow, careful preparations may be made for the first real reduction in strength, to be followed at long intervals by others.

3 BANDITS ROB MAIL MESSENGER OF $25,000 PACKAGE

PROTEST

HOUSE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE HEARING COMPLAINTS

Washington, Nov. 10.—(UP) Representatives of theatrical enterprises opened a fight on the 10 per cent levy on admissions today at the house ways and means committee tax bill hearing.

Cigar and tobacco manufacturers also prepared to protest existing rates on their commodities.

With this testimony, the hearing will close this afternoon and the committee will begin executive sessions tomorrow to work out features of the new bill which must be ready when congress reconvenes scarcely four weeks hence.

The list of final witnesses included: Ligon Johnson, New York, International Theatrical Association; Burt New, motion picture producers; M. J. O'Toole, motion picture theatre owners; William A. Brady, New York, theatrical enterprises; J. H. Farrell, Auburn, N. Y., professional baseball leagues; Charles Dushkind, tobacco manufacturers; Henry Clay Anderson, Bowling Green, Ky., Country club; Marion Devries, California Vineyard Association; William Hamilton Osborne, Authors' League, and Ivan Kelso, Automobile Club of Southern California, Los Angeles.

The committee has not yet decided whether it will seek an investigation of the so-called estate tax lobby which is reported here working for repeal of that provision. If no decision is reached before congress convenes, Rep. Rainey, democrat, Illinois, has announced he will introduce a resolution calling for such inquiry.

PLOTTED TO SHOOT PATH TO FREEDOM

PRISONERS AT DANNEMORA, N. Y., TIPPED OFF BY
"SQUEALER"

Dannemora, N. Y., Nov. 10.—(UP)—The story of how a group of long-time prisoners planned to shoot a path to freedom from the Clinton prison has been disclosed by prison officials. Leon Kramer, a member of the Whittemore gang of jewelry thieves, was the supposed head of the plot. He was under sentence to 40 years.

When Kramer learned the prison officials knew his plans, he stabbed another prisoner, who Kramer said was the "squealer." Officials would not disclose the wounded man's name but said he would recover.

Although the plot was discovered two months ago, word of it did not get outside the prison walls until today.

A shipment of six pistols, 200 rounds of ammunition and several maps of Adirondack mountain roads were seized. The package was shipped to the "industrial department" of the prison. It was discovered in the packing room, where the plotters hoped to get the arms through the aid of one of the six men who worked there.

British Artist is Given $1,450 for Picture of Ruth Elder

Aboard S. S. Aquitania—At Sea, Nov. 10.—(By wireless to United Press)—Olive Snell, the famous British artist, was $1,450 wealthier today after having sold her portrait of Ruth Elder to Joseph Schenck of the United Artists Corporation in a spirited auction last night.

Miss Elder and Captain George Haldeman, co-pilot of the plane, American Girl, were greeted with enthusiasm when they appeared during the auction.

The portrait was exhibited yesterday prior to the auction. The painting depicts the unsmiling face of the aviatrix, bringing out its strength and beauty.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—(U.P.)—With expectations that many more entries would be received, it was announced late yesterday that 12 pilots have expressed intention of participating in the St. Paul to Crookston Armistice Day air derby.

The route of the derby, will take the fliers over Little Falls, famous as the home of Cpl. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Col. L. H. Brittin and Charles "Speed" Holman have announced that elaborate plans have been arranged in Crookston for their aerial circus which will take place from Friday to Sunday.

Prominent pilots of the northwest will be entered in the derby, including Holman who participated in the recent New York to Spokane air races.

Col. Brittin said today that the St. Paul-Little Falls-Crookston event depends upon the weather for success. It is doubtful if the derby will be held in inclement weather, he said.

EXECUTIVE OFFICERS TALK OF MERGER

UNABLE TO AGREE ON FARM RE-LIEF AND MUSCLE
SHOALS

TIED BY POLITICS OF 3 BODIES'
NATIONAL CONVEN-
TIONS

Washington, Nov. 10.—(U.P.)—An effort to unite the three great farm organizations of the country, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the Farmers Union of America, on one program for farm relief will be made by the executive officers of the organizations, it was announced today after a two-day session here.

The executive officers were unable to agree on farm relief and Muscle Shoals legislation, it was explained, because they were tied by politics adopted by the three bodies' national conventions. They did agree, however, on 34 legislative matters at this conference, it was said.

TARIFF CREDIT PLAN OF FARM RELIEF

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Nov. 10.—The word is being passed among members of the congressional farm bloc that President Coolidge is "sympathetically" considering the tariff credit plan of farm relief known as the debenture system.

Mr. Coolidge led a senator to believe at the White House recently that he might encourage the plan, it is said. The inference has spread rapidly.

While it is impossible to get an expression from the president himself at this time, those of his political faith on Capitol Hill are opposed to the project. It would provide that farm products sold for export would receive a "credit" of half the value of the tariff on that product. This credit, backed by the treasury, could be used as a semi-negotiable certificate. It could be sold to importers, obviously at a discount, to be used to pay tariff duties on imported products.

The plan was put forward by the National Grange. The Grange's executive committee is meeting here now with officials of the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Farmers' Union.

The farm bloc itself is not unanimously behind the proposal. The Borah-Norris group has taken no concerted action on it, but Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, presidential candidate of the group, strongly opposes it. He thinks it might be considered a subsidy and an excuse for other government subsidies; also that it might be used as an argument for raising tariff duties again.

Proponents of the project agree it is not in conformity with ideas Mr. Coolidge has expressed on farm relief.

"But we understand he is willing to go a long way to get some kind of a farm bill through next session," they add.

Many members of the bloc privately express belief the president will not champion the project but may seek enactment of some modification of it as an experiment at removing the farm relief issue from the next presidential campaign.

The matter has served to hold up for the present all activity upon the McNary-Haugen price stabilization bill, in the belief that a definite expression may be expected from the president shortly.

JOHN M. HAGEN NEW DEPUTY DRY HEAD OF NORTH DAKOTA

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—(U.P.)—The appointment of John M. Hagen, Dering, N. D., as deputy prohibition administrator for the state of North Dakota was announced today by S. B. Qvale, northwest administrator. Officers of the North Dakota unit will be at Fargo.

3RD MYSTERIOUS DYNAMITING IN PITSTON

Pittston, Pa., Nov. 10.—(U.P.)—In the third mysterious dynamiting in Pittston within the last few weeks, the doorway of the West Pittston Borough $1,000,000 high school, first occupied only a month ago, was shattered today.

The building itself was not believed to be badly damaged.

A valuable stained glass window in the Methodist Episcopal church across the street was broken.

Three weeks ago an explosion of dynamite damaged the doorway of St. John's Roman Catholic church. About two weeks before, a candy factory was dynamited.

DISARMAMENT IN EUROPE IS A LENGTHY AFFAIR

SYSTEM OF CONFERENCES MAY
LAST FROM 20 TO 50
YEARS

LEAGUE TO MEET ON
NOV. 30

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Geneva, Nov. 10.—European disarmament is going to require a system of progressive conferences lasting from 20 to 50 years, competent League of Nations circles are convinced as they prepare for a meeting of the League's preparatory commission on November 30.

A couple of years ago it was hoped that disarmament could be effected by this time. The work has been under way for many months now. It has demonstrated only, experts here say, the complexity of the problem.

League of Nations observers are looking forward to a long series of disarmament conferences, each one launching a new convention, and each one taking Europe and the world one step nearer to the goal—reduction of armaments almost to nominal scale.

This conclusion has been forced on league men by nearly eight years of studying the problem—eight years in which the failure of repeated efforts to attain immediate disarmament has been obvious.

League experts believe now they are on the right track, and during the next year they hope to attain the first definite success—an agreement by nations to limit their military, naval and aerial strength to its present proportions.

These proportions, statesmen say, are far above those on whose great strength the outbreak of the world war was blamed.

League men are prepared even to see slight increases in the present strength of some nations' armaments agreed to as a beginning.

This sounds hopeless enough—but its importance, observers say, is in the fact that any agreement will end the menace of competitive building and furnish a basis on which later conferences may work.

Therefore all efforts of the League of Nations during 1928 will center on preparing for the first general land, sea and air disarmament conference. They hope it will be held late next year or early in 1929, and that it will result in an agreement to limit armaments to their present, or nearly to their present strength.

If this conference is successful in its aim, league men look forward to a few blank years during which slow, careful preparations may be made for the first real reduction in strength, to be followed at long intervals by others.

3 BANDITS ROB MAIL MESSENGER OF $25,000 PACKAGE

Birdsboro, Pa., Nov. 10.—(U.P.)—Three bandits held up and robbed J. Webster Evans, post office registered mail messenger here today, of a Federal Reserve Bank package containing about $25,000. The money was en route to the Birdsboro National Bank.

OBJECT TO TEN PER CENT THAT IS STILL LEVIED

CIGAR AND TOBACCO MANUFACTURERS ALSO ENTER
PROTEST

HOUSE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE HEARING COMPLAINTS

Washington, Nov. 10.—(U.P.)—Representatives of theatrical enterprises opened a fight on the 10 per cent levy on admissions today at the house ways and means committee tax bill hearing.

Cigar and tobacco manufacturers also prepared to protest existing rates on their commodities.

With this testimony, the hearing will close this afternoon and the committee will begin executive sessions tomorrow to work out features of the new bill which must be ready when congress reconvenes scarcely four weeks hence.

The list of final witnesses included: Ligon Johnson, New York International Theatrical Association; Burt New, motion picture producers; M. J. O'Toole, motion picture theatre owners; William A. Brady, New York theatrical enterprises; J. H. Farrell, Auburn, N. Y., professional baseball leagues; Charles Dushkind, tobacco manufacturers; Henry Clay Anderson, Bowling Green, Ky., Country club; Marion Devries, California Vineyard Association; William Hamilton Osborne, Authors' League, and Ivan Kelso, Automobile Club of Southern California, Los Angeles.

The committee has not yet decided whether it will seek an investigation of the so-called estate tax lobby which is reported here working for repeal of that provision. If no decision is reached before congress convenes, Rep. Rainey, democrat, Illinois, has announced he will introduce a resolution calling for such inquiry.

PLOTTED TO SHOOT PATH TO FREEDOM

PRISONERS AT DANNEMORA, N. Y., TIPPED OFF BY
"SQUEALER"

Dannemora, N. Y., Nov. 10.—(U.P.)—The story of how a group of long-time prisoners planned to shoot a path to freedom from the Clinton prison has been disclosed by prison officials. Leon Kramer, a member of the Whittemore gang of jewelry thieves, was the supposed head of the plot. He was under sentence to 40 years.

When Kramer learned the prison officials knew his plans, he stabbed another prisoner, who Kramer said was the "squealer." Officials would not disclose the wounded man's name but said he would recover.

Although the plot was discovered two months ago, word of it did not get outside the prison walls until today.

A shipment of six pistols, 200 rounds of ammunition and several maps of Adirondack mountain roads were seized. The package was shipped to the "industrial department" of the prison. It was discovered in the packing room, where the plotters hoped to get the arms through the aid of one of the six men who worked there.

British Artist is Given $1,450 for Picture of Ruth Elder

Aboard S. S. Aquitania—At Sea, Nov. 10.—(By wireless to United Press)—Olive Snell, the famous British artist, was $1,450 wealthier today after having sold her portrait of Ruth Elder to Joseph Schenck of the United Artists Corporation in a spirited auction last night.

Miss Elder and Captain George Haldeman, co-pilot of the plane, American Girl, were greeted with enthusiasm when they appeared during the auction.

The portrait was exhibited yesterday prior to the auction. The painting depicts the unsmiling face of the aviatrix, bringing out its strength and beauty.

800 DARTMOUTH COLLEGE STUDENTS CLEAN UP TOWN

White River Junction, Vt., Nov. 10.—(UP)—As enthusiastic as if they were en route to a football game, 800 Dartmouth college students marched into flood-swept White River Junction today and began cleaning the town.

The students, released from classes for the day, were met at the railroad station by equally enthusiastic townsfolk. Receding river waters had left 60 homes filled with mud, and the Rotary club here conceived the idea of employing the man power of Dartmouth to clear them.

The Connecticut and White Rivers, which, rising 38 feet, had caused most of the damage here, today had receded 25 feet, and all flood danger had passed.

TO OPEN BIDS FOR CONSTRUCTING 55 MILES OF PAVEMENT

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Bids for the construction of 55 miles of pavement under the 1928 highway building program will be opened by the State Highway department Nov. 29, it was announced late yesterday. With contracts previously let, the additional mileage under bid will bring tentative construction to more than 100 miles of state highway already planned for next year. The paving on which bids are called include the extension of concrete on trunk highway No. 3 from Sauk Center to Osakis, extension of concrete on trunk highway No. 59 from Farmington to Cannon Falls, and the paving from the city limits of St. Paul to the state line near Hudson, Wis.

Another proposed paving project extends from Austin to Blooming Prairie.

Lions Treat Ladies to Banquet and Duck Shoot Last Evening

LIONESSES HAVE PART

Present Colored Revue; Dance Follows Dinner and Program

Turkeys and ducks vied for supremacy at the annual ladies night put on last night by the Lions club in the Ransford hotel for the Lionesses, so to settle the dispute they ate the turkeys and took the ducks home.

The committee had promised the fairer sex a real duck feed but when the banquet came it was found that turkey had been substituted for the duck as the elusive duck was still hiding in the rice beds of Crow Wing county. Not to disappoint the ladies the committee sneaked out on a favorite pass while the banquet was in progress and rounding up a whole flock of them, marched them to the portals of the banquet hall. One lone duck, to which curiosity was the spice but calamity of life, poked his head through the door and proudly strutted up the floor and to the banquet tables. The duck wardens, furious at the audacity of this duck, rushed into the room and after putting salt on its tail captured it. The other wardens envious of the attention paid the other hunters each brought in ducks, the result of careful trapping and with due ceremony presented each lady with a duck to take home.

Not to be outdone by the Lions, the Lionesses presented the surprise of the evening when with but a few minutes leave came into the banquet hall dressed as colored gentlemen and ladies, and put on several pleasing numbers.

After the dinner and program, music was furnished by Ericson's orchestra and they danced until a late hour.

Miss Caroline Carlton went to Merrifield this afternoon.

Work at the Brainerd Lumber Company mill in this city is rather brisk for this time of the year. It will be remembered that the mill was shut down a short time ago, all the logs in the river having been taken out. He was next in line to the late Hon. L. P. White, who died this summer.

WHITTIER PARENT TEACHERS MEET

Dr. Herbert Carlson Speaks of Preventative of Diphtheria

MRS. A. G. PATTERSON SPEAKS
Committees of Association Are Named for the Year

The Whittier Parent-Teachers Association held its regular meeting for November on Tuesday evening of this week.

Dr. Herbert Carlson addressed the parents on the advantages of the use of toxin-anti-toxin as the preventative of diphtheria. This was the most instructive talk setting many to thinking of his suggestion that children of the pre-school age be given this serum since it causes immunity from this disease for seven years and sometimes for life.

Mrs. A. G. Patterson gave a very clever talk, amusing the audience with many anecdotes expressing appreciation of the problems of the members of the family and of the teachers.

An open discussion was conducted on the subject of discipline of children.

During the summer parents who started the children in the first grade in September were given the privilege of having those children examined free. Many parents took advantage of the offer. This is known as the "summer round-up" but has never been conducted in Brainerd before.

Committees for the year stand as follows:

Program—Mesdames Heald, W. W. Bane, M. W. Richards, Miss Mary Walsh.

Publicity—Mrs. Walter Fall, Mrs. Louis Knudson.

Membership—Mesdames Arthur Turcotte, Richard Bush, Ralph Long, Marvin Smith, Miss Hope Thabes.

Hospitality—Mesdames R. L.

Geist, A. L. Alexander, Frank Lowey, A. M. Opsahl, C. W. Mahlum, Welfare—Mrs. J. C. Clausen, Mrs. Ed. Anderson.

On the musical program was first a piano duet by Jean Cibazar and Helen Stout, two of the Whittier school children. They played "Reverie" by Pearsis and the audience greatly enjoyed this number.

Later Miss Ann Thorpe sang Kingling's "Recessional" in a most impressive manner. Mrs. Walter F. Wieland accompanied her.

Lunch was served by the following ladies: Mesdames Robert L. Elder, Walter Fall, R. M. Sheets, Richard Bush, Arthur Turcotte.

Leaving "Sonny" A Legacy Of $60,000

You would like to leave that Eight-Year-Old of yours a legacy of $60,000, wouldn't you and here are some figures that will prove it is not impossible after all.

Statistics prove that college graduates average $60,000 greater earnings during their lifetime than non-graduates; so four well spent college years are an investment that will net Sonny $60,000 over the period of his life, if the law of averages holds true.

A normal amount to allow for a college education is $456 a year, or a total of $1,824 for the period, and you have 10 years to get this amount together. Saving less than $15 a month will do it, and here is where we can help you.

Because of the buying resources of this great family of stores you enjoy everyday savings that amount to considerable at the end of the month. Suppose you check our values and prices very carefully, and see for yourself how much of that $15 you can save by buying here next month.

Buyers of Essex cars in the first 9 months of this year would fill and overflow the largest stadium in the world. More than 194,000 Super-Sixes were bought in this period.

Preference for ESSEX almost 2 to 1

In outselling any other "Six" at or near the price, almost two to one, the signal thing is not merely the overwhelming preference for the Essex Super-Six, but the source from which it comes.

A great proportion of buyers are owners, former and present, of big and costly cars. They turn to Essex because they find:

The smoothness and performance of their costlier cars.

Comfort and riding ease not excelled in any car.

The roominess and relaxation of their larger cars.

Traffic nimbleness and handling ease unmatched in larger cars.

Economy of operation and maintenance exclusive to Essex.

Engineered to long life, lasting reliability and lowest operation and maintenance costs, it represents the greatest value in all Essex achievement.

THEY GOT DUCKS BUT ATE TURKEY

Lions Treat Ladies to Banquet and Duck Shoot Last Evening

LIONESSES HAVE PART

Present Colored Revue; Dance Follows Dinner and Program

Turkeys and ducks vied for supremacy at the annual ladies night put on last night by the Lions club in the Ramsford hotel for the Lionesses, so to settle the dispute they ate the turkeys and took the ducks home.

The committee had promised the fairer sex a real duck feed but when the banquet came it was found that turkey had been substituted for the duck as the elusive duck was still hiding in the rice beds of Crow Wing county. Not to disappoint the ladies the committee sneaked out on a favorite pass while the banquet was in progress and rounding up a whole flock of them, marched them to the portals of the banquet hall. One lone duck, to which curiosity was the spice but calamity of life, poked his head through the door and proudly strutted up the floor and to the banquet tables. The duck wardens, furious at the audacity of this duck, rushed into the room and after putting salt on its tail captured it. The other wardens envious of the attention paid the other hunters each brought in ducks, the result of careful trapping and with due ceremony presented each lady with a duck to take home.

Not to be outdone by the Lions, the Lionesses presented the surprise of the evening when with but a few minutes leave came into the banquet hall dressed as colored gentlemen and ladies, and put on several pleasing numbers.

After the dinner and program, music was furnished by Ericson's orchestra and they danced until a late hour.

The Use of Heroes

Parents should hold up models and heroes before their children, but should not try to make them into cheap imitations.—American Magazine.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

November 10, 1902

Capt. Bulson, who was formerly in charge of the local Salvation Army corps of the city, arrived from the south today for a visit with her friends. Capt. Bunch, who has been assisting Capt. Kreidler in the local field, has gone to Little Falls for a few days. She will leave Thursday for Chicago to attend the general's meeting. Capt. Kreidler also expects to attend.

Miss Caroline Carlton went to Merrifield this afternoon.

Work at the Brainerd Lumber Company mill in this city is rather brisk for this time of the year. It will be remembered that the mill was shut down a short time ago, all the logs in the river having been taken out. The M. & I. however, took a contract to haul some more logs for the company and two trains a day are arriving at the mill and it is anticipated that the work will continue for nearly a month yet.

I. U. White, the Laurel street hardware dealer, was in a rather reminiscent mood this morning especially so on account of this being the twenty-fifth anniversary of his marriage to Mrs. White. Perhaps the weather today has something to do with Mr. White's particular state of mind. Anyway in the course of conversation it was learned that Mr. White is the oldest pioneer in the city. He was next in line to the late Hon. L. P. White, who died this summer.

OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY

Mayor Frank E. Little Today Makes Proclamation for Observance Tomorrow

Mayor Frank E. Little today announced the following proclamation for observance on Armistice Day:

"In view of the everlasting significance of November 11, I believe the city of Brainerd should make it memorial. Therefore as mayor of the city of Brainerd I do hereby request and urge all citizens of the city to suitably decorate their homes, stores, and offices and in all ways recognize November 11, the anniversary of the signing of the Armistice which marks the ending of the World War with its terrible loss of life and property. While we are paying tribute to the boys who gave their lives for our country let us not forget the boys who returned home. I hope as many as possible will attend the Armistice Day dance given by the American Legion of Brainerd at the U. C. T. hall."

WHITTIER PARENT TEACHERS MEET

Dr. Herbert Carlson Speaks of Preventative of Diphtheria

MRS. A. G. PATTERSON SPEAKS
Committees of Association Are Named for the Year

The Whittier Parent-Teachers Association held its regular meeting for November on Tuesday evening of this week.

Dr. Herbert Carlson addressed the parents on the advantages of the use of toxin-anti-toxin as the preventative of diphtheria. This was the most instructive talk setting many to thinking of his suggestion that children of the pre-school age be given this serum since it causes immunity from this disease for seven years and sometimes for life.

Mrs. A. G. Patterson gave a very clever talk, amusing the audience with many anecdotes expressing appreciation of the problems of the members of the family and of the teachers.

An open discussion was conducted on the subject of discipline of children.

During the summer parents who started the children in the first grade in September were given the privilege of having those children examined free. Many parents took advantage of the offer. This is known as the "summer round-up" but has never been conducted in Brainerd before.

Committees for the year stand as follows:

Program—Mesdames Heald, W. W. Bane, M. W. Richards, Miss Mary Walsh.

Publicity—Mrs. Walter Fall, Mrs. Louis Knudson.

Membership—Mesdames Arthur Turcotte, Richard Bush, Ralph Long, Marvin Smith, Miss Hope Thabes.

Hospitality—Mesdames R. L.

Geist, A. L. Alexander, Frank Lowey, A. M. Opsahl, C. W. Mahlum, Welfare—Mrs. J. C. Clausen, Mrs. Ed. Anderson.

On the musical program was first a piano duet by Jean Cibuzar and Helen Stout, two of the Whittier school children. They played "Reverie" by Fauris and the audience greatly enjoyed this number.

Later Miss Ann Thorpe sang Kipling's "Recessional" in a most impressive manner. Mrs. Walter F. Wieland accompanied her.

Lunch was served by the following ladies: Mesdames Robert L. Elder, Walter Fall, R. M. Sheets, Richard Bush, Arthur Turcotte.

EXCISE TAXES

LIKE the income tax, excise taxes are predicated on the theory that those that have and enjoy shall pay, says the Chicago Tribune editorially. The field of excise taxation in the United States is narrowed to include a few articles or expenditures to which the terms luxuries or indulgences can, with more or less authority, be applied.

Appearing before the house ways and means committee, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon argued for the retention of all existent excise taxes. He spoke particularly of the tax on automobiles, which he said were articles of a semi-luxury nature. He pointed out that automobiles constituted a competition for the railroads and that the railroad paid taxes. He said that the annual federal road appropriations exceed $70,000,000 and that it was right that automobiles should be required to contribute since they benefit to so great an extent.

This same logic, of course, cannot be applied in the case of all excise taxes. No one has heard of the tobacco industry receiving any great benefit from the government, nor of any federal aid for the theaters or the professional boxing industry.

The common denominator is the luxury factor. Mr. Mellon calls the automobile a semi-luxury. He could call tobacco a luxury without evoking retort, and certainly no one will quarrel with the definition of theater seats or seats at a boxing match as luxuries. As Mr. Mellon suggested, the tax on a $40 seat at the Tunney-Dempsey fight was an ideal method of getting the money.

In the case of admissions the social factor is recognized just as it is in the income tax with its personal exemptions. Admissions of 75 cents or less are not taxed. They are not considered luxuries. Payment is exacted only from those who, theoretically, can afford to pay.

READY FOR VISITORS

THE other day Howard Elliott, chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific railway company, was in the city accompanied by a large group of railway associates. His coming was entirely unannounced.

In the course of their inspection of Brainerd shops and other railway interests, the group walked over to the Y. M. C. A. and were happily surprised to see the clean and inviting interior with its many activities for the boys. They examined the building from basement to dormitory and found every section in perfect order and very satisfactory.

They assured the board of directors that they would remove the posts from the gymnasium as soon as proper architect plans were provided. They were visibly impressed by the rejuvenated association.

Assurances were given that with the increased support given the Y. M. C. A. by Brainerd citizens, and the growing attendance of boys taking advantage of its many opportunities, they were favorable to giving more assistance, in the way of repairs, improvements and other matters.

Before spring the building is to be painted inside and out. The heating plant has been put in perfect condition by the railroad company, which added a new boiler and furnace. Hot shower baths are now a reality and are being constantly patronized.

Adults as well as boys are having their attention centered on the "Y". Secretary I. L. Peterson is grateful for the support and encouragement the institution is receiving and is doing all in his power to make it a continued and growing success. The building is crowded to capacity almost every evening.

APPRECIATE AID EXTENDED

CROW WING county, Brainerd and range people particularly, as well as the sheriff's department appreciate the prompt response made by General W. F. Rhinow, St. Paul, head of the Minnesota bureau of criminal identification, when he was asked to assist in ferreting out the bandits who robbed the First National bank of Ironton of a sum believed to be from $30,000 to $35,000.

The general was communicated with at his home and set out in a police automobile, making fast time in spite of slippery roads and arriving at Brainerd at about 10:30 o'clock last night, and then proceeding to the range town in company with the sheriff. With his assistants he is now at Ironton and cooperating with county and village authorities is doing everything possible in running down clues, taking finger prints, etc.

It is hoped the authorities will be able to get these bandits, for such a robbery should be punished speedily. Bringing the guilty to justice is one of the first duties of the state.

THE BRUCE CALDWELL CASE

THE Bruce Caldwell case in athletics seems to us a far fetched matter. Here we have a great university like Princeton uttering no objection to the player's status until on the eve of its great game with Yale.

True, a Providence, Rhode Island paper, dug up the charges and they have been admitted by Caldwell, who stated that at the time he committed the offense, which we think not an unpardonable one, he did not know he had broken a rule.

Yale promptly declared Caldwell ineligible, and the team filled the gap caused by its star player's dismissal and proceeded training to meet Princeton with its reorganized lineup.

We do not know the many rules promulgated by colleges, but the whole affair would be more highly regarded by disinterested people if the complaint against Caldwell had been prepared and entered earlier in the day and not at the eleventh hour.

LADIES NIGHT AT THE LIONS

LADIES NIGHT at the Lions was attended 100 per cent and the Lions and Lionesses report a happy evening spent at the Ransford hotel where the dinner was served, the program given and the stunts received with perfect understanding.

The Lions, like the Rotarians, do not forget the ladies. In case of a Lion or Rotarian husband, the lady of the house is frequently a silent partner but nevertheless a most active factor in the success of the luncheon club.

All meetings are so conducted in these clubs, the subject matters, are such, that the lady of any member may sit and freely hear the deliberations. It speaks well for the clubs that the ladies are interested and that their support is so freely given. Their recognition comes when these Ladies Nights are held and it shows in a small way that their worth is duly appreciated.

SYNOPSIS

When the sailing schooner "Sea Sprite" docks at Frisco her crew are tired of the sea, and Daley, her skipper, has sworn that the town is going to pay him for the months of hell in the Arctic. He leaves his mate drunk aboard the schooner and goes ashore to look for friends and excitement. He was feeling good towards the world and after he has taken his room at Mother Ward's, where he always stays, he goes down to "The Ship" where he knows he will find his friends. Cribbins, the bartender, greets him like a long lost friend. However, Hurricane does not want to talk about his trip.

Patting his waist where lay the well filled belt, he joked. "But I guess that it was worth while, eh? There's a lot of money there, an' I've got more in my pocket. Tomorrow it's going to a bank, and perhaps some day I'll be able to quit the sea and live a decent life."

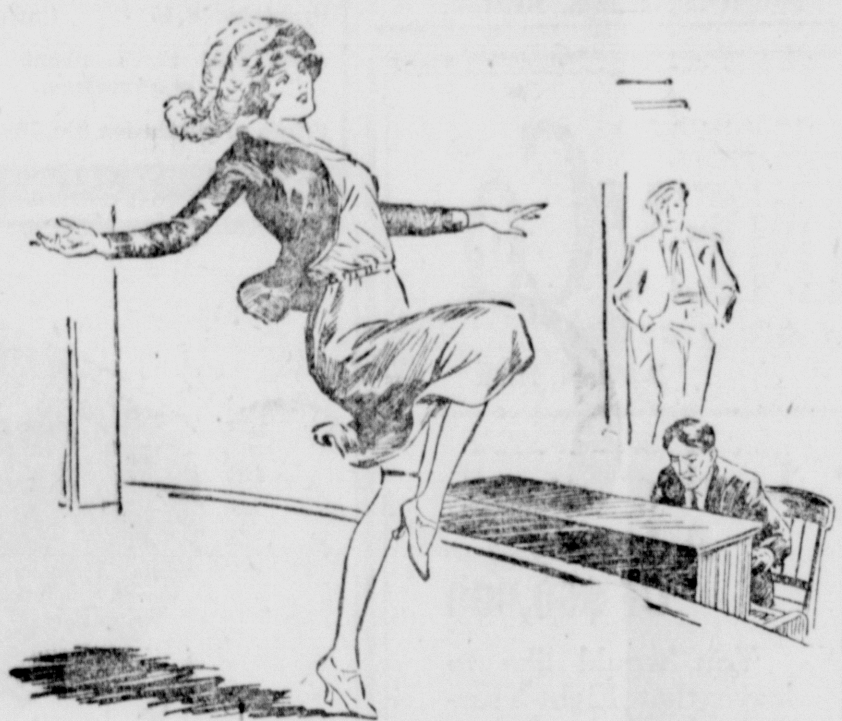

"I hope you can, son, but if you're once a sailor you just can't live without the sea and the old pals that you used to know. We got lots here that talk as you do, but they never leave the sea, they never will." Cribbins remembered the hours when he had longed for the roll of a deck beneath his feet.

With blood stirred by his few drinks, Hurricane Haley wanted more life and action than "The Ship" could give.

"Where can a fellow have a good time in this damned town? Anyone would think that you were dead men around here."

"Why don't you try the Mission across the street?" laughed Cribbins.

"I'm in no mood for religion tonight, and if I don't get action before I'm through I'm damned if I'll ever stop in Frisco again." The more he thought of it the more his blood swirled through his veins and the sharper became his appetite.

Polly danced because she loved to dance.

"Why don't you try 'Crawley's Riverside'?" asked Cribbins. "They always have a good show there, an' they've got a kid there now that will knock your eye out."

This sounded good to Hurricane, and with a final drink around he departed on his search for excitement. His step was not so steady now, but as he wandered in the general direction of the "Riverside" he was happy as a prince.

The goddess who watches over sailors was not protecting Hurricane. Had he turned around he would have noticed a furtive individual walking behind him and hugging the wall as if he were afraid of being seen. This furtive trailer was one of the loungers from "The Ship," who had heard his story—and seen his bulging belt.

It was night in Frisco. Back in the dim dressing room at the back of the "Riverside" stage two women were fighting.

"A hell of a nerve you've got, using my lipstick, after the dirty tricks that you've been playing. Some people ain't got no shame."

"Shut up, yer little tramp. You ought to ask the privilege before yer speak to a lady. Yer dirty little gutter-snipe."

A little fist shot up, as two eyes blazed, murderously from beneath a crown of thunderous hair. The first caught a rather heavy lady with bleached hair square on the chin. Came another fist, and another, then a rain of them, followed by a volley of dockside oaths.

The blonde lady staggered, tripped, then began to sink to her knees but as she did so she clutched desperately at the little demon atop of her. The two went sprawling on the floor of the dressing room, where they continued their combat. The bigger woman was the stronger, and as she held her adversary with one hand she pummeled her with the other. The smaller girl in turn scratched, bit, clawed and butted.

A frightened attendant pleaded with them to stop, but it was like pleading with two strange bulldogs and he fled for help.

This was Crawley's Riverside. A little more pretensions than the saloons and dockside drinking places. The Riverside offered entertainment to its patrons. It was a very prosperous establishment, for the seamen, after long voyages, made Crawley's their first stop—they were anxious to hear the music, see the dancing, watch the half-mad girls sing and giggle, and afterwards to talk and drink with them.

"Elbows" Crawley, former pugilist and many times hostage of the state on divers charges, stood at his bar watching with pleased countenance the arrival of his patrons. The babbling bar was already packed with the men from the dock-sides, niggers, Lascars, white toughs and yellow men. The ten cent seats were already filling, and husky waiters stood near the tables, with solicitous smiles. The Riverside was little more than a cave of harmony, but it bubbled with life and vitality.

Crawley was a large man with florid features and a mop of beer colored hair. He had reasons for feeling in high spirits. Business was good not only at the Riverside, but those nefarious angles that a far-seeing saloon keeper can take advantage of had been very plentiful of late. His greatest acquisition, the best stroke in his career, had been when he managed to get hold of Polly, the Frisco Brat. She had proven a great drawing card. She was just what the men wanted. She seemed to just breathe the joy of living.

Polly danced because she loved to dance. She needed no urging, her legs just wouldn't keep still, and when she danced it was the kind of stuff they knew. She was born on the Frisco docks, and its denizens loved her. With her wide, odd laugh, her symmetrical legs and the liquid fire that seemed to run under her skin Polly, the Frisco Brat, was at present queen of the waterfront.

No one knew an awful lot about her antecedents. People do not pry into one another's affairs in the

DEAF ARMY OFFICER DESCRIBES SENSATION OF HEARING SON OVER RADIO

Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—(UP)—"It's like a blind man seeing again," whispered Richard Fanning, 83-year-old retired army officer, after listening to his son, Cecil, baritone, sing over the radio for the first time.

Fanning had been deaf for 19 years.

He was persuaded by a neighbor, A. S. Lelka, to put on the head phones. He had done this before, but had heard nothing.

But last night it was his son who was singing and the father was able to hear plainly.

Know Your Sweetheart by His Handwriting

By EDNA PURDY WALSH
Editor, Character Reading Magazine

Is He Generous?

Will he give freely without a prompt reason or will he doubt the object of charity and perhaps what he can analyze his writing and find what we can.

When writing is made very large and she are wide, when words are far apart and letters in words are also far apart, then we will be sure to find a writer who gives without analysis of the case. He is emotional and is easily touched. He will as soon throw his whole purse to the person in need as he would offer a few coins. This is particularly true if the writer makes the latter section of the capital M much higher than the rest and if he makes his terminal run away from himself and on toward the other word or follow.

When pressure is seen in down strokes, when the above keys are found, we find a writer who may think of himself a lot but who will always stand by in time of need.

When the terminals of small writing go on and the o's and s's are open, and t's reach high, then there is much generosity there.

EXCISE TAXES

LIKE the income tax, excise taxes are predicated on the theory that those that have and enjoy shall pay, says the Chicago Tribune editorially. The field of excise taxation in the United States is narrowed to include a few articles or expenditures to which the terms luxuries or indulgences can, with more or less authority, be applied.

Appearing before the house ways and means committee, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon argued for the retention of all existing excise taxes. He spoke particularly of the tax on automobiles, which he said were articles of a semi-luxury nature. He pointed out that automobiles constituted a competition for the railroads and that the railroad paid taxes. He said that the annual federal road appropriations exceed $70,000,000 and that it was right that automobiles should be required to contribute since they benefit to so great an extent.

This same logic, of course, cannot be applied in the case of all excise taxes. No one has heard of the tobacco industry receiving any great benefit from the government, nor of any federal aid for the theaters or the professional boxing industry.

The common denominator is the luxury factor. Mr. Mellon calls the automobile a semi-luxury. He could call tobacco a luxury without evoking retort, and certainly no one will quarrel with the definition of theater seats or seats at a boxing match as luxuries. As Mr. Mellon suggested, the tax on a $40 seat at the Tunney-Dempsey fight was an ideal method of getting the money.

In the case of admissions the social factor is recognized just as it is in the income tax with its personal exemptions. Admissions of 75 cents or less are not taxed. They are not considered luxuries. Payment is exacted only from those who, theoretically, can afford to pay.

READY FOR VISITORS

THE other day Howard Elliott, chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific railway company, was in the city accompanied by a large group of railway associates. His coming was entirely unannounced.

In the course of their inspection of Brainerd shops and other railway interests, the group walked over to the Y. M. C. A. and were happily surprised to see the clean and inviting interior with its many activities for the boys. They examined the building from basement to dormitory and found every section in perfect order and very satisfactory.

They assured the board of directors that they would remove the posts from the gymnasium as soon as proper architect plans were provided. They were visibly impressed by the rejuvenated association.

Assurances were given that with the increased support given the Y. M. C. A. by Brainerd citizens, and the growing attendance of boys taking advantage of its many opportunities, they were favorable to giving more assistance, in the way of repairs, improvements and other matters.

Before spring the building is to be painted inside and out. The heating plant has been put in perfect condition by the railroad company, which added a new boiler and furnace. Hot shower baths are now a reality and are being constantly patronized.

Adults as well as boys are having their attention centered on the "Y". Secretary I. L. Peterson is grateful for the support and encouragement the institution is receiving and is doing all in his power to make it a continued and growing success. The building is crowded to capacity almost every evening.

APPRECIATE AID EXTENDED

CROW WING county, Brainerd and range people particularly, as well as the sheriff's department appreciate the prompt response made by General W. F. Rhinow, St. Paul, head of the Minnesota bureau of criminal identification, when he was asked to assist in ferreting out the bandits who robbed the First National bank of Ironton of a sum believed to be from $30,000 to $35,000.

The general was communicated with at his home and set out in a police automobile, making fast time in spite of slippery roads and arriving at Brainerd at about 10:30 o'clock last night, and then proceeding to the range town in company with the sheriff. With his assistants he is now at Ironton and cooperating with county and village authorities in doing everything possible in running down clues, taking finger prints, etc.

It is hoped the authorities will be able to get these bandits, for such a robbery should be punished speedily. Bringing the guilty to justice is one of the first duties of the state.

THE BRUCE CALDWELL CASE

THE Bruce Caldwell case in athletics seems to us a far fetched matter. Here we have a great university like Princeton uttering no objection to the player's status until on the eve of its great game with Yale.

True, a Providence, Rhode Island paper, dug up the charges and they have been admitted by Caldwell, who stated that at the time he committed the offense, which we think not an unpardonable one, he did not know he had broken a rule.

Yale promptly declared Caldwell ineligible, and the team filled the gap caused by its star player's dismissal and proceeded training to meet Princeton with its reorganized lineup.

We do not know the many rules promulgated by colleges, but the whole affair would be more highly regarded by disinterested people if the complaint against Caldwell had been prepared and entered earlier in the day and not at the eleventh hour.

LADIES NIGHT AT THE LIONS

LADIES NIGHT at the Lions was attended 100 per cent and the Lions and Lionesses report a happy evening spent at the Ransford hotel where the dinner was served, the program given and the stunts received with perfect understanding.

The Lions, like the Rotarians, do not forget the ladies. In case of a Lion or Rotarian husband, the lady of the house is frequently a silent partner but nevertheless a most active factor in the success of the luncheon club.

All meetings are so conducted in these clubs, the subject matters are such, that the lady of any member may sit and freely hear the deliberations. It speaks well for the clubs that the ladies are interested and that their support is so freely given. Their recognition comes when these Ladies Nights are held and it shows in a small way that their worth is duly appreciated.

SYNOPSIS

When the sailing schooner "Sea Sprite" docks at Frisco her crew are tired of the sea, and Zaley, her skipper, has sworn that the town is going to pay him for the months of hell in the Arctic. He leaves his mate drunk aboard the schooner and goes ashore to look for friends and excitement. He was feeling good towards the world and after he has taken his room at Mother Ward's, where he always stays, he goes down to "The Ship" where he knows he will find his friends. Cribbins, the bartender, greets him like a long lost friend. However, Hurricane does not want to talk about his trip.

Patting his waist where lay the well filled belt, he joked. Tugging his waist where lay the well filled belt, he joked.

"But I guess that it was worth while, eh? There's a lot of money there, an' I've got more in my pocket. Tomorrow it's going to a bank and perhaps some day I'll be able to quit the sea and live a decent life."

"I hope you can, son, but if you're once a sailor you just can't live without the sea and the old pals that you used to know. We got lots here that talk as you do, but they never leave the sea, they never will." Cribbins remembered the hours when he had longed for the roll of a deck beneath his feet.

With blood stirred by his few drinks, Hurricane Haley wanted more life and action than "The Ship" could give.

"Where can a fellow have a good time in this damned town? Anyone would think that you were dead men around here."

"Why don't you try the Mission across the street?" laughed Cribbins.

"I'm in no mood for religion today the seamen, after long voyages, made Crawley's their first stop—they were anxious to hear the music, see the dancing, watch the half-mad girls sing and giggle, and afterwards to talk and drink with them.

"Elbows" Crawley, former pugilist and many times hostage of the state on divers charges, stood at his bar watching with pleased countenance the arrival of his patrons. The babbling bar was already packed with the men from the docksides, niggers, Lascars, white toughs and yellow men. The ten-cent seats were already filling, and husky waiters stood near the tables, with solicitous smiles. The Riverside was little more than a cave of harmony, but it bubbled with life and vitality.

Crawley was a large man with florid features and a mop of beer colored hair. He had reasons for feeling in high spirits. Business was good not only at the Riverside, but those nefarious angles that a far-seeing saloon keeper can take advantage of had been very plentiful of late. His greatest acquisition, the best stroke in his career, had been when he managed to get hold of Polly, the Frisco Brat. She had proven a great drawing card. She was just what the men wanted. She seemed to just breathe the joy of living.

Polly danced because she loved to dance. She needed no urging, her legs just couldn't keep still, and when she danced it was the kind of stuff they knew. She was born on the Frisco docks, and its denizens loved her. With her wide, odd laugh, her symmetrical legs and the liquid fire that seemed to run under her skin, Polly, the Frisco Brat, was at present queen of the waterfront.

No one knew an awful lot about her antecedents. People do not pry into one another's affairs in the night, and if I don't get action before I'm through I'm damned if I'll ever stop in Frisco again." The more he thought of it the more his blood swirled through his veins and the sharper became his appetite.

"Why don't you try 'Crawley's Riverside'?" asked Cribbins. "They always have a good show there, an' they've got a kid there now that will knock your eye out."

This sounded good to Hurricane, and with a final drink around he departed on his search for excitement. His step was not so steady now, but as he wandered in the general direction of the "Riverside" he was happy as a prince.

The goddess who watches over sailors was not protecting Hurricane. Had he turned around he would have noticed a furtive individual walking behind him and hugging the wall as if he were afraid of being seen. This furtive trailer was one of the loungers from "The Ship," who had heard his story—and seen his bulging belt.

It was night in Frisco. Back in the dim dressing room at the back of the "Riverside" stage two women were fighting.

"A hell of a nerve you've got, using my lipstick, after the dirty tricks that you've been playing. Some people ain't got no shame."

"Shut up yer little tramp. You ought to ask the privilege before yer speak to a lady. Yer dirty little guttersnipe."

A little fist shot up, as two eyes blazed murderously from beneath a crown of thunderous hair. The fist caught a rather heavy lady with bleached hair square on the chin. Came another fist, and another, then a rain of them, followed by a volley of dockside oaths.

The blonde lady staggered, tripped, then began to sink to her knees but as she did so she clutched desperately at the little demon atop of her. The two went sprawling on the floor of the dressing room, where they continued their combat. The bigger woman was the stronger, and as she held her adversary with one hand she pummeled her with the other. The smaller girl in turn scratched, bit, clawed and butted.

A frightened attendant pleaded with them to stop, but it was like pleading with two strange bulldogs. And he fled for help.

This was Crawley's Riverside. A little more pretentious than the saloons and dockside drinking places. The Riverside offered entertainment to its patrons. It was a very prosperous establishment.

DEAF ARMY OFFICER DESCRIBES SENSATION OF HEARING SON OVER RADIO

Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—(UP)—"It's like a blind man seeing again," whispered Richard Fanning, 83-year-old retired army officer, after listening to his son, Cecil, baritone, sing over the radio for the first time. Fanning had been deaf for 19 years.

He was persuaded by a neighbor, A. S. Lakin, to put on the head phones. He had done this before, but had heard nothing. But last night it was his son who was singing and the father was able to hear plainly.

Know Your Sweetheart by His Handwriting

By EDNA PURDY WALLEN
Editor, Character Reading Magazine

Is He Generous? Will he give freely without reason or will he doubt the object of charity and perhaps what? Let us analyze his writing and find what else we can.

When writing is made very large and generous the margins on either side are wide, when words are far apart and letters in words are also far apart, then we will be sure to find a writer who gives without analysis of the case. He is emotional and is easily touched. He will as soon throw his whole purse to the person in need as he would offer a few coins. This is particularly true if the writer makes the latter section of the capital M much higher than the rest and if he makes his terminal run away from himself and on toward the other word or fellow.

When pressure is seen in down strokes, when the above keys are found, we find a writer who may think of himself a lot but who will always stand by in time of need.

When the terminals of small writing go on and the o's and a's are open, and t's reach high, then there is much generosity there.

CALDWELL OF YALE MAY YET PLAY AGAINST PRINCETON

YALE ATHLETIC AUTHORITIES SO INDICATE TODAY

DEFINITE DECISION SOON REACHED BY BOARD OF ATHLETIC CONTROL

YALE STUDENT NEWSPAPER FAVORS STANDING BY ORIGINAL DECISION

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 10. — (UP) — Bruce Caldwell, star half-back of the Yale University football eleven, may yet be allowed to play in the Princeton game Saturday, Yale athletic authorities indicated today. A definite decision probably will be reached at a meeting of the board of athletic control tonight.

President Hibben of Princeton, in a letter to President Angell of Yale, expressed his desire that the Yale authorities follow the suggestion of the Princeton faculty committee on athletics that Caldwell be allowed to play. Although the suggestion was at first rejected, final action was deferred until the return of Prof. George H. Nettleton, chairman of the athletic board.

If neither Harvard nor Princeton had reopened the case, the matter would have been dropped, John M. Gates, graduate director of athletics said.

"The thoroughly gentlemanly and sportsmanlike attitude of both colleges has made me feel that it is my duty to see that the matter is given a fair hearing," he said. "The case has attracted national interest and if Caldwell is made an exception to the rule the consequences may be far-reaching. Eventually it might lead to a modification of the rule."

The Yale News, official student newspaper, in its editorial columns favored standing by the original decision at all costs.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 10. — A meeting of the Yale athletic council was called for noon today to decide definitely whether to permit Bruce Caldwell, star back disqualified two days ago, to play in the Princeton-Yale game Saturday.

Princeton has suggested he be permitted to play.

Tad Jones, Yale coach, today said he talked by telephone last night to Caldwell, who is at his home at Ashton, R. I.

"I advised him not to give up his scholastic career because he had been disqualified for football," Jones said.

He explained he had not instructed Caldwell to return to the football squad but had urged him to resume his college work.

Ashton, R. I., Nov. 10. — Driving a battered fiver, Bruce Caldwell, Yale's ineligible football star, left his home town today for New Haven, Conn.

He had been urged by Coach Tad Jones of Yale to return to college and resume his studies.

Previously Caldwell had explained he came to Ashton merely to discuss with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Caldwell, the situation that developed immediately after his disqualification from the Yale team.

ALONG THE SIDELINES

Minnesota

Minneapolis, Minn. — Minnesota is elated over the return of Harold Barnhart to the blocking quarterback position. Scrimmage against the freshman team, using Drake plays, has occupied much of the time this week.

Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich. — Secret practice on plays designed to beat the Navy Saturday has featured Michigan workouts this week. Improvement in the Michigan line is reported.

Northwestern

Evanston, Ill. — Three Northwestern regulars are definitely out of the game with Indiana Saturday. They are Capt. Vic Gustafson, Walter Helmer, both backs and Frank Sinkler, tackle, all suffering from injuries. One ray of hope is offered the Purple in the announcement that Tiny Lewis will start at full-back.

Indiana

Bloomington, Ind. — Taking no chances of further injuries, Coach Pat Page has foregone heavy scrimmages in Indiana football practices. The Indiana band of 102 pieces will accompany the team to Evanston for the Northwestern game Saturday.

Chicago

Chicago — Chicago's hopes of beating Illinois Saturday were further dimmed today by an injury to Hugh Mendenhall, crack backfield man.

9 GRIDDEERS IN LAST GAME UNDER BLUE AND WHITE

Mendenhall was the most accurate passer on the team, as well as a good punter and runner.

Wisconsin

Madison, Wis. — A marked improvement is evident in the Wisconsin running attack. Approximately 7,000 seats for the homecoming game with Iowa Saturday remain unsold.

Iowa

Iowa City, Ia. — Thirty-five Iowa football players leave here tonight for Madison, Wis., where they play Wisconsin Saturday. Concentration on a forward pass defense during practices this week has given the team confidence that it can stop the aerial attack of the Badgers.

Notre Dame

South Bend, Ind. — A squad of three full teams of Notre Dame football players was to leave here today for the east, where the team meets the Army Saturday. The Irish still are considerably bruised as a result of last Saturday's game with Minnesota.

Purdue

Lafayette, Ind. — Leo Hutton, end, injured in the Chicago game, has returned to the Purdue lineup. Light workouts continued in the Boilermaker camp.

INTEREST INTENSE IN THE YALE AND PRINCETON GAME

INTENSIFIED BY THE CALDWELL INVESTIGATION CONDUCTED

PRINCETON SUGGESTS SPIRIT OF "TRANSFER" RULE NOT VIOLATED

By FRANK GETTY

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 10. — Interest in Saturday's football game between Yale and Princeton has been intensified by the Caldwell affair.

The athletic authorities at Yale today declined to accept a suggestion, made by Princeton's faculty, that the star Eli half-back be permitted to play.

Princeton suggested that the spirit of the "transfer" rule had not been violated in Caldwell's case. Yale chose to live up to the letter of the agreement with Princeton and Harvard.

Bruce Caldwell, having participated in two games as a freshman at Brown four years ago, automatically became ineligible to represent Yale against Princeton, once his "sin" was found out.

It is a bad break for Yale, and a particularly bad break for Caldwell. But college sportsmen everywhere recognize that no other action than the immediate disbarment of the noted half-back was possible.

Yale is going into the Princeton game Saturday with Johnny Garvey in Caldwell's place. Garvey is no Caldwell. Johnny hasn't the football brains of the man whose shoes he has to fill. But Garvey, like every other wearer of the Blue jersey that day, will be fighting just a bit harder to win.

Captain Ben Webster of the Yale eleven summed up the sentiment at New Haven for the United Press, as follows:

"We did not have a one-man team despite what was said about us. The loss of Bruce Caldwell is a severe one, and none of us would attempt to dispute the fact. But we have developed a team this season on which eleven men are playing every minute. And we'll beat Princeton."

The Tigers will move on New Haven tomorrow with an unbeaten seven. In their final practice, Bill Roper's regulars scored once upon a team made up of former Princeton stars, led by the famous Jake Slagle.

At Palmer Stadium, as well as at Pratt Field, New Haven, the talk is all of Caldwell and his unfortunate disbarment. Princeton undoubtedly regrets the incident as much as Yale does, because a Tiger victory, if one occurs on Saturday, always will be embittered by the suggestion:

"It might have been different with Caldwell in there."

CLASSIC SEEN IN CLASH WITH RANGE ELEVEN TOMORROW

GAME WILL START AT 2:30 P. M. AT CROSBY; W. HAUTALA HAS SORE SHOULDER

BRAINERD TEAM IN FINE SHAPE FOR BATTLE TO SETTLE DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP

Nine of the lettermen of the Brainerd High School football team will play their last game under the Blue and White tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the local griddeers clash with Crosby-Ironton at the C-I grounds.

The nine players who will graduate this year follow: Greger (Capt.) tackle; Barnes, end; LaCourse, tackle; Welliver, tackle; Hanson, guard; Greener, guard; Ellison, center; Buscher, quarterback; Walter Hautala, half back.

"This will leave a gap in the Blue and White team that will be hard to fill next year," said Coach Kasch today, "but I am still optimistic about a good team next year. For Guin, Goedderz, Fox, Abrahamson, Wice, Fuler, Swanson and Arthur Hautala, all men who received experience this year, will be available, along with one or two men who were ineligible this year. Also there will be new men coming up which is always the case with any high school team. It is planned to have a good schedule for next year, planning eight games with at least four at home."

In regard to the team lining up tomorrow, all the boys will be in good shape except Walter Hautala. This is causing considerable worry because at present he is unable to pass the ball on account of shoulder injuries. This will undoubtedly take away from the forward passing threat which had been planned for the Crosby game. Hautala is a very excellent passer and can be relied upon to look over his field very well.

In a critical game like this it would be rather hard to place another man in his position. Every effort will be made to get Hautala's arm in shape but even then it will be uncertain whether he can continue that part of the triple threat game.

The Crosby team has a very splashing, driving attack. They have won every game this year and have won it on this style of play. The system is drilled into each one of the eleven men and is carried out in a well executed manner. Smart, the quarterback, is one of the headiest quarterbacks in this district. Radosevich, the fullback, is one of the best defensive men Brainerd has played against this year. He is a whale of a defensive man, backing up both sides of the line. Pomeroy, a very fast back, adds very much to the threat of the Crosby offense.

The line is a low, fast charging line. The Crosby team this year has always had punch within the scoring area, and the winner of tomorrow's game certainly can be claimed as the best or equal to the best in this district.

It should be a typical championship game. The field may be slippery and this would not be to the advantage of either team.

If Crosby wins tomorrow, Brainerd is willing to admit the range team is the better and Brainerd can lay claim to being second best in the district.

RUMORS THAT TEX RICKARD IS DEMPSEY MANAGER

PURPORT TO COME FROM BILLY GIBSON, TUNNEY MANAGER

THREATENS TO CALL TEMPORARY HALT IN HEAVYWEIGHT PROCEEDINGS

New York, Nov. 10. — (UP) — Rumors purporting to come from Billy Gibson, Gene Tunney's manager, which allege that Tex Rickard, promoter, is Jack Dempsey's manager, have threatened to call a temporary halt in heavyweight proceedings until the affair is straightened.

Gibson said the champion is not satisfied with Rickard's way of handling things and may not fight his first 1928 bout for him. He added that Tunney had received offers from Philadelphia and Chicago promoters and a New York business man and that he may accept one of them before he fights for the Madison Square Garden promoter.

Rickard's reply said that his contract with the champion called for him to fight for Rickard first. "I am not Dempsey's manager and never have been," he said. "That's one of those stories Jack Kearns started. I don't want to manage Dempsey, Tunney or any other fighter. I am a promoter."

Tunney, who is vacationing at Racquette Lake, Old Forge, N. Y., sent word to Gibson that he intended to fight three times in 1928. "Tex Rickard has no exclusive contract on my services, nor has any promoter," he said. "I shall defend my championship in May, July and September. If Rickard is to promote the first championship match of 1928, he will have to make plans for it to take place before the end of May 1928."

"I promised Mayor Thompson of Chicago I would defend my title in Chicago in 1928 if I received a satisfactory offer and the offer I have received from a Chicago promoter is quite satisfactory. I have also received offers from a promoter in Philadelphia and a New York business man who will get a license to promote a title bout."

Rickard's plans call for the winner of his heavyweight elimination tournament to meet Jack Dempsey in July and the winner of that bout to meet Tunney in a title bout in September. "It's all the bunk about Tunney going to fight two or three times," Rickard said. "Tunney will fight."

CALDWELL OF YALE MAY YET PLAY AGAINST PRINCETON

YALE ATHLETIC AUTHORITIES SO INDICATE TODAY

DEFINITE DECISION SOON REACHED BY BOARD OF ATHLETIC CONTROL

YALE STUDENT NEWSPAPER FAVORS STANDING BY ORIGINAL DECISION

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 10. — (UP) — Bruce Caldwell, star half-back of the Yale University football eleven, may yet be allowed to play in the Princeton game Saturday, Yale athletic authorities indicated today. A definite decision probably will be reached at a meeting of the board of athletic control tonight.

President Hibben of Princeton, in a letter to President Angell of Yale, expressed his desire that the Yale authorities follow the suggestion of the Princeton faculty committee on athletics that Caldwell be allowed to play. Although the suggestion was at first rejected, final action was deferred until the return of Prof. George H. Nettleton, chairman of the athletic board.

If neither Harvard nor Princeton had reopened the case, the matter would have been dropped, John M. Gates, graduate director of athletics said.

"The thoroughly gentlemanly and sportsmanlike attitude of both colleges has made me feel that it is my duty to see that the matter is given a fair hearing," he said. "The case has attracted national interest and if Caldwell is made an exception to the rule the consequences may be far-reaching. Eventually it might lead to a modification of the rule."

The Yale News, official student newspaper, in its editorial columns favored standing by the original decision at all costs.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 10. — A meeting of the Yale athletic council was called for noon today to decide definitely whether to permit Bruce Caldwell, star back disqualified two days ago, to play in the Princeton-Yale game Saturday.

Princeton has suggested he be permitted to play.

Tad Jones, Yale coach, today said he talked by telephone last night to Caldwell, who is at his home at Ashton, R. I.

"I advised him not to give up his scholastic career because he had been disqualified for football," Jones said.

He explained he had not instructed Caldwell to return to the football squad but had urged him to resume his college work.

Ashton, R. I., Nov. 10. — Driving a battered fivver, Bruce Caldwell, Yale's ineligible football star, left his home town today for New Haven, Conn.

He had been urged by Coach Tad Jones of Yale to return to college and resume his studies.

Previously Caldwell had explained he came to Ashton merely to discuss with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Caldwell, the situation that developed immediately after his disqualification from the Yale team.

ALONG THE SIDELINES

Minnesota
Minneapolis, Minn. — Minnesota is elated over the return of Harold Barnhart to the blocking quarterback position. Scrimmage against the freshman team, using Drake plays, has occupied much of the time this week.

Michigan
Ann Arbor, Mich. — Secret practice on plays designed to beat the Navy Saturday has featured Michigan workouts this week. Improvement in the Michigan line is reported.

Northwestern
Evanston, Ill. — Three Northwestern regulars are definitely out of the game with Indiana Saturday. They are Capt. Vic Gustafson, Walter Helmer, both backs and Frank Sinkler, tackle, all suffering from injuries. One ray of hope is offered the Purple in the announcement that Tiny Lewis will start at fullback.

Indiana
Bloomington, Ind. — Taking no chances of further injuries, Coach Pat Page has foregone heavy scrimmages in Indiana football practices. The Indiana band of 102 pieces will accompany the team to Evanston for the Northwestern game Saturday.

Chicago
Chicago — Chicago's hopes of beating Illinois Saturday were further dimmed today by an injury to Hugh Mendenhall, crack backfield man.

9 GRIDDEERS IN LAST GAME UNDER BLUE AND WHITE

Mendenhall was the most accurate passer on the team, as well as a good punter and runner.

Wisconsin
Madison, Wis. — A marked improvement is evident in the Wisconsin running attack. Approximately 7,000 seats for the homecoming game with Iowa Saturday remain unsold.

Iowa
Iowa City, Ia. — Thirty-five Iowa football players leave here tonight for Madison, Wis., where they play Wisconsin Saturday. Concentration on a forward pass defense during practices this week has given the team confidence that it can stop the aerial attack of the Badgers.

Notre Dame
South Bend, Ind. — A squad of three full teams of Notre Dame football players was to leave here today for the east, where the team meets the Army Saturday. The Irish still are considerably bruised as a result of last Saturday's game with Minnesota.

Purdue
Lafayette, Ind. — Leo Hutton, end, injured in the Chicago game, has returned to the Purdue lineup. Light workouts continued in the Boilermaker camp.

INTEREST INTENSE IN THE YALE AND PRINCETON GAME

INTENSIFIED BY THE CALDWELL INVESTIGATION CONDUCTED

PRINCETON SUGGESTS SPIRIT OF "TRANSFER" RULE NOT VIOLATED

By FRANK GETTY

(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Nov. 10. — Interest in Saturday's football game between Yale and Princeton has been intensified by the Caldwell affair.

The athletic authorities at Yale today declined to accept a suggestion, made by Princeton's faculty, that the star Eli half-back be permitted to play.

Princeton suggested that the spirit of the "transfer" rule had not been violated in Caldwell's case. Yale chose to live up to the letter of the agreement with Princeton and Harvard.

Bruce Caldwell, having participated in two games as a freshman at Brown four years ago, automatically became ineligible to represent Yale against Princeton, once his "sin" was found out.

It is a bad break for Yale, and a particularly bad break for Caldwell. But college sportsmen everywhere recognize that no other action than the immediate disbarment of the noted half-back was possible.

Yale is going into the Princeton game Saturday with Johnny Garvey in Caldwell's place. Garvey is no Caldwell. Johnny hasn't the football brains of the man whose shoes he has to fill. But Garvey, like every other wearer of the Blue jersey that day, will be fighting just a bit harder to win.

Captain Ben Webster of the Yale eleven summed up the sentiment at New Haven for the United Press, as follows:

"We did not have a one-man team despite what was said about us. The loss of Bruce Caldwell is a severe one, and none of us would attempt to dispute the fact. But we have developed a team this season on which eleven men are playing every minute. And we'll beat Princeton."

The Tigers will move on New Haven tomorrow with an unbeaten eleven. In their final practice, Bill Roper's regulars scored once upon a team made up of former Princeton stars, led by the famous Jake Sagle.

At Palmer Stadium, as well as at Pratt Field, New Haven, the talk is all of Caldwell and his unfortunate disbarment. Princeton undoubtedly regrets the incident as much as Yale does, because a Tiger victory, if one occurs on Saturday, always will be tempered by the suggestion:

"It might have been different with Caldwell in there."

CLASSIC SEEN IN CLASH WITH RANGE ELEVEN TOMORROW

GAME WILL START AT 2:30 P. M. AT CROSBY; W. HAUTALA HAS SORE SHOULDER

BRAINERD TEAM IN FINE SHAPE FOR BATTLE TO SETTLE DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP

Nine of the lettermen of the Brainerd High School football team will play their last game under the Blue and White tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the local griddeers clash with Crosby-Ironton at the C-I grounds.

The nine players who will graduate this year follow: Creger (Capt.) tackle; Barnes, end; LaCourse, tackle; Welliver, tackle; Hanson, guard; Greener, guard; Ellison, center; Buscher, quarterback; Walter Hautala, half back.

"This will leave a gap in the Blue and White team that will be hard to fill next year," said Coach Kasch today, "but I am still optimistic about a good team next year. For Guin, Goedderz, Fox, Abrahamson, Wise, Fuler, Swanson and Arthur Hautala, all men who received experience this year, will be available, along with one or two men who were ineligible this year. Also there will be new men coming up which is always the case with any high school team. It is planned to have a good schedule for next year, planning eight games with at least four at home."

In regard to the team lining up tomorrow, all the boys will be in good shape except Walter Hautala. This is causing considerable worry because at present he is unable to pass the ball on account of shoulder injuries. This will undoubtedly take away from the forward passing threat which had been planned for the Crosby game. Hautala is a very excellent passer and can be relied upon to look over his field very well. In a critical game like this it would be rather hard to place another man in his position. Every effort will be made to get Hautala's arm in shape but even then it will be uncertain whether he can continue that part of the triple threat game.

The Crosby team has a very splashing, driving attack. They have won every game this year and have won it on this style of play. The system is drilled into each one of the eleven men and is carried out in a well executed manner. Smart, the quarterback, is one of the headiest quarterbacks in this district. Radosevich, the fullback, is one of the best defensive men Brainerd has played against this year. He is a whale of a defensive man, backing up both sides of the line. Pomeroy, a very fast back, adds very much to the threat of the Crosby offense. The line is a low, fast charging line. The Crosby team this year has always had punch within the scoring area, and the winner of tomorrow's game certainly can be claimed as the best or equal to the best in this district.

It should be a typical championship game. The field may be slippery and this would not be to the advantage of either team.

If Crosby wins tomorrow, Brainerd is willing to admit the range team is the better and Brainerd can lay claim to being second best in the district.

RUMORS THAT TEX RICKARD IS DEMPSEY MANAGER

PURPORT TO COME FROM BILLY GIBSON, TUNNEY MANAGER

THREATENS TO CALL TEMPORARY HALT IN HEAVY-WEIGHT PROCEEDINGS

New York, Nov. 10. — (UP) — Rumors purporting to come from Billy Gibson, Gene Tunney's manager, which allege that Tex Rickard, promoter, is Jack Dempsey's manager, have threatened to call a temporary halt in heavyweight proceedings until the affair is straightened.

Gibson said the champion is not satisfied with Rickard's way of handling things and may not fight his first 1928 bout for him. He added that Tunney had received offers from Philadelphia and Chicago promoters and a New York business man and that he may accept one of them before he fights for the Madison Square Garden promoter.

BRAINERD IN BASKETBALL LEAGUE FORMED

LOCAL QUINT SPONSORED BY THE BRAINERD AMERICAN LEGION

PETERSON OF BRAINERD SECRETARY OF CENTRAL MINNESOTA LEAGUE

Braierd is to be represented in the Central Minnesota Basketball league this coming winter. The Braierd team is being sponsored by the Braierd American Legion and managed by L. Peterson.

At a meeting held in St. Cloud Wednesday evening the following officers were elected: Poepke, president, of St. Cloud; L. Peterson, secretary, of Braierd; and H. J. Chimeleski, treasurer, of Foley.

The teams that will make up the league are as follows: St. Cloud, Braierd, Little Falls, Rockville, Albany, Alexandria, Sauk Rapids, Sauk Centre, Cold Springs, Foley and Osakis.

The league will open on Dec. 2, and plays a split schedule.

All referees of the league will be sent from town to town to work each league game, and no one referee will work his home town.

Two games a week will be played—one at home and one away.

Each team is limited to ten players, the list to be submitted a week before the season opens.

An entry fee of $20 was placed on each team, so if a team drops out of the league, it will lose its entry fee, which will be refunded at the end of the playing season.

Manager Peterson will call basketball practice this coming week when he expects to have about 25 men trying out for positions on the team.

SHORTSTOP CISELL FACES CHARGES OF SEDUCTION

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Chalmers W. Cissell, $123,000 shortstop acquired by the Chicago White Sox from the Portland club of the Pacific coast league, has waived extradition to Des Moines to face a charge of seduction. Cissell was arrested here last night on request of Sheriff Findley of Des Moines and placed under $2,500 bond. He declined to discuss the details of the charges other than to admit they involved a woman. Chicago is understood to have paid $60,000 in cash for Cissell, throwing in four players in a trade characterized in sport circles since as a $123,000 deal.

COLUMBINE MINE MAY BE TROUBLE CENTER SOON

ARMED GUARDS STATIONED TO PREVENT ANY PICKETING

COLORADO OFFICIALS TRY TO END I. W. W. STRIKE IN COAL FIELDS

Denver, Colo., Nov. 10.—(UP)—As state officials, mine operators and miners sought to end the I. W. W. strike in Colorado coal fields, attention turned today to the Columbine mine where armed guards have been stationed to prevent picketing.

Governor William H. Adams sent six state police and five officers of the national guard to protect miners in the northern field which has kept open during the entire strike.

A clash between strikers and police was feared since 250 men have instituted a picketing campaign against this property and announced intentions of continuing operations until it is closed.

Other strike centers appeared quiet and an increasing number of workers returned to the mines in virtually all fields.

Peace efforts launched in the northern field were spreading to the southern districts and both miners and operators expressed confidence of a settlement soon.

NOTE INTRODUCED IN THE TRIAL OF LORENA TRICKEY

GIRL RODEO RIDER IS CHARGED WITH MURDER OF COWBOY LOVER

BOTH PROSECUTION AND DEFENSE REGARD IT AS IMPORTANT EVIDENCE

Lakeview, Ore., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Both prosecution and defense today turned to a note, allegedly written by the defendant, as the most important evidence yet appearing in the trial of Lorena Trickey, girl rodeo rider, charged with the murder of her cowboy lover, "Slim" Harris.

The note was introduced into evidence as court adjourned Wednesday. It was the result of testimony furnished by P. M. Bennett, state prohibition officer.

Miss Trickey gave me this note and asked me to give it to Bob Brown, (rodeo rider who was once held in connection with the slaying) but I turned it over to the sheriff," Bennett said.

Court was adjourned before the note was read to the jury. It was said Miss Trickey wrote the missive shortly after Harris was killed.

So far the state has confined itself to presentation of evidence having to do with the events of the day on which Miss Trickey stabbed Harris to death.

The witnesses have testified Harris and several companions drank liquor during the day, but Miss Trickey refused to drink.

Pat McCarthy, cowboy friend of Harris, told of a conversation: "I was with Slim and Lorena all day," he said. "All of us drank, except Lorena. Lorena and Slim fought all the time. About six o'clock Slim told Lorena, 'If you don't shut up, I'll knock your head off.' Lorena answered that it would be the last time he hit a woman."

"Then Slim said he was going to leave her anyway."

"Lorena started sobbing at this and said she'd kill him before she'd let him do that."

"About six o'clock the two of them started on the automobile ride which resulted in Slim's death."

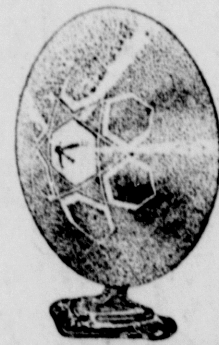

Dalls G. Bly, stockman, and Jack Gardner, rodeo rider, corroborated McCarthy.

The Cause of Vice

I think you will find it true, that, before any vice can fester in a man, body, mind or moral nature must be debilitated. The masses of fungi gather on sickly trees, not thriving ones; and the odious parasites which fasten on the human frame choose that which is already enfeebled.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Scene from "OUT ALL NIGHT," starring REGINALD DENNY with MARIAN NIXON, A UNIVERSAL SUPER-COMEDY

"Out All Night," Reginald Denny's latest farce comedy, has been booked as the feature attraction by the Lyceum theatre for tonight and Friday.

Denny portrays the role of a wealthy young man, who meets, woos and marries the girl of his heart all in one evening, or rather one night. The innumerable comedy situations that are caused when an attempt is made to keep the marriage a secret during an ocean voyage should provide one of the most hilarious hours of entertainment imaginable. Denny's own inimitable sense of comedy value is predominant throughout and the climax is thrilling and unusual.

GEN. W. F. RHINOW, EXPERTS CONDUCT INVESTIGATION

Entire State Scoured by Police for Hiding Place of Four Bandits

TO TRACK DOWN YEGGMEN

Yeggs Lock Employees and Patron of Bank in Vault; Escape
With Loot

Extending the web of the law to a dozen cities and every possible hiding location in the state, state crime bureau experts, detectives, banking association representatives, and a posse of sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and police officers are determined to track down the four yeggmens who yesterday afternoon held up the First National bank of Ironton and escaped with more than $33,000 in gold, silver and currency.

Police of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Superior, Wis., are combing the underworld in an effort to arrest the criminals.

Every means is being employed to apprehend the highwaymen but up to press time today no arrests had been made.

Ever since the first warning had been made of the daring holdup law officials have been working, following up every possible clue. Sheriff Claus Theorin of Brainerd stated today that so carefully had the robbery been planned that very few clues were available. The bank employees were unable to give any definite information regarding the features of the men as the bandits wore wide brim hats pushing down over their forehead. Descriptions of the car used in the getaway also vary.

W. F. Rhinow, head of the State Crime Bureau, Irwin P. Jones, fingerprint expert, Harry McKenna, and Ira L. Mellett, investigators, St. Paul arrived in Brainerd last night at 10:45 o'clock and with Sheriff Claus Theorin immediately set out for Ironton. The crime bureau men and sheriff worked all last night at the bank and vicinity. The fingerprint experts were able to photograph fingerprints of the bandits on the vault door.

After the preliminary investigation, General Rhinow continued his search today for clues through which he hopes to identify the four men who executed the holdup. Three of the men entered the bank just before it closed yesterday, robbed the vault of gold, silver and currency, locked three bank attaches and a customer and sped away in a waiting automobile.

The money taken as loot was to meet payrolls of the Inland Steel Company and the Mahanomen mine. The latter is paying employees today and the Steel Company will meet its payroll Saturday.

Nearly half an hour elapsed after the robbery before a description of the automobile and men was telephoned to Brainerd and other communities.

A careful checkup is being made of any suspicious cars in this section, but no definite clue as to which direction the men escaped was learned.

The three bandits, all of whom were unmasked, entered the bank while A. H. Proctor, cashier, T. S. Nyhus, assistant cashier and Ernest Olson were completing work for the day. J. O. Lindahl, principal of the Crosby-Ironton high school was completing some business. The bandits whipped out guns and gruffly ordered the three employees and patrons to fall prone on the floor. One of the bandits kicked Lindahl in the side. With this done one of the bandits pulled the shades on the door to elude any prying eyes. After the location of the money was found in the vault and all gold, silver and currency in sight scooped up the bandits then ordered the victims into the vault and locked the heavy safe door. The employees stated that they could hear the jingle of the silver as if the bandits were throwing it into a sack. A minute later the bandits had escaped in the waiting car. Chester Johnson, 17 years old, told today that he saw the bandits leave the bank but did not suspect that robbery had been committed.

"They joked and laughed as they walked hurriedly from the bank to one of the many automobiles parked nearby," he said.

The youth stated that he believed the bandits escaped in a Studebaker car. He said that one man was at the steering wheel but moved over to allow one of the other bandits to drive.

The car is said to have travelled slowly through Ironton and Crosby and gained speed as it passed the town limits.

The four victims in the vault were able to attract the attention of G. H. Storm, shoemaker with a shop below the bank who notified Stanley Jorgenson, former employee of the bank who came down and opened the vault. A ventilating system had been installed in the bank vault.

Evidence that the "job" had been planned carefully was revealed by the fact that the burglar alarm had been put out of order. Workmen putting a screen over the bell two days ago noticed that the bell had been tampered with but took no particular attention of it.

Police are unearthing Bertillon records of three convicts who recently escaped the Michigan state penitentiary at Marquette, Mich., as suspects in the Ironton robbery.

REDUCING SLASH FIRE HAZARDS

E. H. Rhodes, District Ranger, Seeks Protection Against Fires

ISSUING BURNING PERMITS

None Required When Ground is Covered With Snow

E. H. Rhodes, district ranger of the Brainerd district, No. 4 forestry department, has written this article on the cleaning up of old slash to reduce fire hazards.

With the ground covered with the first light snow of the season, the conditions are ideal for the safe burning of any old slash which has been left from your past years timber operations.

No burning permits are required for burning while ground is snow-covered, and, although each pile of slash must be started separately, you are consoled by the fact that you are taking no chance of fire getting beyond your control and the possibility of being held for damages by the adjoining property owner. Then too, by cleaning up the old slash on your land, you are insuring your young timber, your buildings or perhaps lives, against possible fires of next year.

Written notices, to burn slashings, have been mailed out by the district forest ranger to practically every operator in the district and it is hoped that every citizen of the county and district will co-operate with the state employees in eliminating all possible fire hazards while conditions are safe.

Many new reports of timber cutting operations for the coming winter are being received at the local ranger office every day, which signifies much activity in this locality for the winter.

Anyone contemplating timber cutting of any kind or on any scale, are advised to familiarize themselves with the state forest law requirements before operations are commenced.

Miss Cassell was driving east on Oak street. Mr. Watson was coming south on 7th street.

DISCUSS STATUS OF BIBLE IN SCHOOLS

Rev. Morris L. Eversz Leads Discussion at Ministers' Association Meet

PRESENTS OPINIONS

Attention Called to Services at St. Paul's Church Tomorrow Evening

Rev. Morris L. Eversz, pastor of the M. E. church lead in discussion at the Brainerd Ministers' Association last Monday on the topic, "The Real Status of the Bible in the public schools."

He presented a report on the case from the attorney general's office to the effect that there is no law on the statute books of Minnesota for or against, but there is an opinion by the supreme court, of which the attorney general furnished the following syllabus.

The syllabus follows: "No Constitutional provision is infringed by the practice adopted by the school board of a public school whereby each room is provided with a copy of King James' version of the Bible from which the teacher is required to read, without note or comment, extracts from the Old Testament, selected by the superintendent. Pupils who do not desire to listen thereto are permitted to retire, while such extracts are being read."

Owing to limitation of time the matter will be discussed more fully by the ministers at their next meeting, Monday, December 5.

Attention was called to the services at the St. Paul's Episcopal church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

TWO ROUGED, LIP-STICKED YOUTHS TAKEN

HELD FOR MURDER OF MRS.
ELIZABETH M. MCKITRICK,
ZWINGLE, IOWA

CONFESS TO CRIME AND ROB-
BERY, ONE OF LADS IS GRAND-
SON OF SLAIN WOMAN

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Two
rouged, lip-stick youths who dressed alike, "sporting canes" and "wanted to get into grand opera" are held here for the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth M. McKitrick, 73-year old grandmother of one of them, at Zwingle, Ia.

They are Leonard Cota of Altoona,
Wis., and Harold Kramer of Great Falls, Mont., who confessed that on the night of Nov. 1 they forced their way into Mrs. McKitrick's home, bound and gagged her with towels,
and escaped with cash and securities valued at more than $40,000.

Both denied they intended to murder
the woman, although they admitted they left her lying gagged and breathing weakly on the floor of her home. They exhibited little emotion when told she was found dead Nov. 2, while Cota, the grandson, told police here "you can't hang us for that."

The robbery was suggested by the grandson after Kramer, whom Cota met when both were rejected by a Navy recruiting station at Minneapolis, told Cota he wanted money to study voice culture. Cota admitted he told Kramer that Mrs. Mc-Kitrick was "a miser and has stacks of money hidden in her home."

Their arrest was the result of suspicion on the part of two detectives who noticed their identical, overdressed appearances. Search of their rooms at an exclusive hotel here revealed virtually all of the loot intact. It included cash, Liberty bonds and securities, hurriedly stuffed into suit-cases and brief-cases.

POLICE FRUSTRATE ATTEMPT TO BOMB RUSSIAN CONSULATE

Shanghai, Nov. 9.—(UP)—Police today frustrated an attempt to bomb the Russian consulate, seizing a bomb and arresting five monarchist Russians who, they declared, were leaders in the plot.
A strong cordon of police now surrounds the consulate. Trouble is feared.
Six hundred anti-communist Russians, chiefly women, this afternoon attended the funeral of their comrade who was killed
Monday when hundreds of royalists stormed the Soviet consulate and tore down the red flag flying over it—a counter demonstration against the celebration of the communist revolution in Russia.

She Gained Weight With McCoy's Tablets

You remember of course—not so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about —all she did was to take on weight
—filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest—any skinny, weak, run, down woman can do the same and gain a clean, clear complexion at the same time.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health —
your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

Have Kidneys Examined By Your Doctor

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if
Back Pains You or Bladder
Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging
you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

TWO ROUGED, LIP-STICKED YOUTHS TAKEN

HELD FOR MURDER OF MRS.
ELIZABETH M. MCKITTRICK,
ZWINGLE, IOWA

CONFESS TO CRIME AND ROB-
BERY, ONE OF LADS IS GRAND-
SON OF SLAIN WOMAN

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Two rouged, lip-sticked youths who dressed alike, "sporting canes" and "wanted to get into grand opera" are held here for the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth M. McKittrick, 73-year old grandmother of one of them, at Zwingle, Ia.

They are Leonard Cota of Altoona, Wis., and Harold Kramer of Great Falls, Mont., who confessed that on the night of Nov. 1 they forced their way into Mrs. McKittrick's home, bound and gagged her with towels, and escaped with cash and securities valued at more than $40,000.

Both denied they intended to murder the woman, although they admitted they left her lying gagged and breathing weakly on the floor of her home. They exhibited little emotion when told she was found dead Nov. 2, while Cota, the grandson, told police here "you can't hang us for that."

The robbery was suggested by the grandson after Kramer, whom Cota met when both were rejected by a Navy recruiting station at Minneapolis, told Cota he wanted money to study voice culture. Cota admitted he told Kramer that Mrs. McKittrick was "a miser and has stacks of money hidden in her home."

Their arrest was the result of suspicion on the part of two detectives who noticed their identical, over-dressed appearances. Search of their rooms at an exclusive hotel here revealed virtually all of the loot intact. It included cash, Liberty bonds and securities, hurriedly stuffed into suit-cases and brief-cases.

FRANCE TIGHTENS ON EASY DIVORCE IN THE CAPITAL

Paris, Nov. 9.—(UP)—French judicial authorities launched today their long-threatened campaign to tighten up the friendly procedure that has made Paris the world divorce capital for wealthy Americans.

"I am holding up petitions of four American women for divorce until the court has made certain that the domicile of the parties concerned really is Paris," announced the chief justice of the divorce court today.

"Americans who petition for divorce must prove they are living here, and not merely traveling for the purpose of obtaining decrees."

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

Have Kidneys Examined By Your Doctor

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if
Back Pains or Bladder
Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weak; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

She Gained Weight With McCoy's Tablets

You remember of course—not so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about—all she did was to take on weight—filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest—any skinny, weak, run-down woman can do the same and gain a clean, clear complexion at the same time.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at H. P. Dunn's, Johnson's Pharmacy or any drug store in America. —Adv't
